THE JET, THE LION AND THE LADIES—All-time 49ers and professional football stars Joe "The Jet" Perry and Leo "The Lion" Nomellini will be formally inducted into Professional Football's Hall of Fame at ceremonies in Canton, Ohio, Sept. 13. As the first 49ers so honored, Joe and Leo asked Mrs. Tony Morabito, on the left above, and Mrs. Victor Morabito, widows of the founders and pioneering leaders of the 49er organization, to act as official "presenters" at the induction ceremonies. The ladies still represent the Morabito family as major partners in the 49ers.

FORTY NINER PROSPECTUS — 1969

More than at any other time in the past five years there is a strong, almost tangible feeling of optimism as the 49ers turn to preparations for the 1969 season.

To a man, the 49ers feel that things are now turning their way. This time, they believe, their high hopes are based on fact and accomplishment, rather than wishful thinking.

This will be the second year of Coach Dick Nolan's guidance, and both coaching staff and veteran players showed good command of the new systems by the final games of 1968.

There were these plus factors:

Clif McNeil

1. The 7-6-1 mark was the second-best ever recorded by a 49er rookie coach. Red Hickey posted 7-5 his first year.
2. Defensively, the 7th-place NFL finish was the best since 1962, when the 49ers also finished 7th in that category.
3. The 4,009 yds. of total offense allowed was the lowest enemy yardage figure since the 14-game schedule went into effect.
4. The 310 points allowed was the second-lowest since 1961, the first year of the 14-game schedule, when 49er foes were allowed 272 points.
5. Clif McNeil's first-place finish among NFL pass catchers was the fifth time a 49er led the league. Billy Wilson tied in 1955, was tops in 1956 and 1957, and Dave Parks led in 1965.
6. John Brodie's 3rd-place finish among NFL passers was only the third time a 49er QB finished that high. Y. A. Tittle was third in 1953, and Brodie was 3rd in 1965.
7. Ken Willard's 2nd-place finish among NFL ball carriers was the highest for a 49er since 1959 when J. D. Smith's 1,036 yds. were good for 2nd place.

Significantly, the improvement under Nolan's leadership was balanced. Not only did the defense improve three places, but the passing game went from 10th to 4th, rushing from 10th to 9th.

The finest draft in recent 49er history—the first round netted top prospects Ted Kwalick, Penn State's All-America tight end, and Gene Washington, Stanford's fleet flanker—simply adds high gloss to the hopeful picture.

BY POSITIONS:

OFFENSE

Receivers: Clif McNeil returns after his Cinderella rise to the top as the league's leading pass catcher last season. Also back is split end Dick Witcher, a tough, sure-handed competitor, who will battle rookie Gene Washington for the job, while veteran Bob Windsor and rookie Ted Kwalick contest for the tight end spot vacated by John David Crow's retirement.

Running Backs: Set of solid, strong "big back" types headed by the brilliant Ken Willard, bolstered by Gary Lewis and Bill Tucker. Outside running threat comes from Doug Cunningham, with the club expected to give a close look to 4th-round choice Gene Moore, who had 1,084 yds. for Occidental last year.

Quarterbacks: John Brodie returns after an extremely good year in 1968. He is the likely starter, although, as usual, he will be under pressure from reserves George Mira and Steve Spurrier.

Line: Development of young players last year went a long way toward reestablishing this as one of the best units of its kind. Cas Banaszek, at tackle, and Elmer Collett, at guard, were two of the top-performing youngsters joining veterans Howard

Ken Willard

Mudd, who was All-NFL again, tackle Len Rohde and center Bruce Bosley. Last year's 1st-round choice Forrest Blue spelled Bosley effectively, and free agent Woody Peoples was a pleasant surprise.

DEFENSE

Line: Combines veterans and outstanding young players to be one of the best "front four" units around. Charlie Krueger has to be considered one of the best three or four tackles playing. He is joined by Roland Lakes, a fine tackle in his own right in his 9th year. Kevin Hardy, returning for his second season, is destined for a great career as a defensive tackle. At end, Stan Hindman should be nearing his peak years as he begins his 4th season, and last year's rookie "find" Bill Belk was very impressive. Tommy Hart, a taxi squadder most of last year, has developed tremendously and may prove a strong competitor for one of the end positions.

Backers: Behind starters Dave Wilcox and Ed Beard stand vets Harold Hays and Frank Nunley, taxi team's Skip Vanderbundt, former TE Dave Olerich and high-calibre draftee Jim Sniadecki of Indiana, to form a tough bunch. Wilcox is without question one of the best outside linebackers in the NFL.

Secondary: Kermit Alexander and Jimmy Johnson, the corner backs, each had excellent seasons last year, should be set to continue their top jobs. Al Randolph, now attuned to the many responsibilities he has in Dick Nolan's defense, has the range, size and strength to be an outstanding strong safety, and Mel Phillips and Johnny Fuller, no matter which one gets the job, assure a competent man at free safety.

Must rank as one of the two or three best defensive tackles in the NFL. Has been a 49er starter since 1959, when he played defensive end. Missed what would have been his rookie season in 1958 when he broke an arm in pre-season game. Played in the Pro Bowl in 1961 and 1964. Won the 49ers' Len Eshmont Award after the 1964 season.

Drafted	Pos.	Born	Ht.	Wt.	College	Off-Season Residence
1b-'69	WR	1/14/47	6-1	186	Stanford	Long Beach Calif.

Speed and great hands, proven performance as a collegian and a long-standing desire to play professional football are among Washington's many major assets. Flexibility is another. Washington began his career at Stanford as a quarterback, led the frosh team to an undefeated season in 1965, ranked among the top ten players in the nation in total offense after four games as a sophomore QB. A shoulder injury cut him down and, with the subsequent hampering of his passing ability, Gene asked to be shifted to flanker prior to the 1967 season, his junior year. All he did that season was lead the Pacific Eight in pass receiving, made unanimous All-Pacific Coast, honorable mention All-America. Gene has been timed in :04.5 for the 40-yard dash in shorts, at :04.65 in full football gear.

Year	Catches	Yards	Avg.	TDs
1967	48	575	12.0	2
1968	71	1117	15.7	8
	122	1785	14.6	10

Washington's 1968 receiving statistics all set single-season records for Stanford. His career marks for receptions and yardage are Stanford records. And his 1968 figures, with the exception of TD passes, stand as Pacific-8 single-season records. Gene was a football, basketball and track star at Polytechnic High School in Long Beach, his home town. He was also student body president there his senior year. Gene was selected the Outstanding Offensive Player in the Shrine East-West Game after the 1968 season and played in the Hula Bowl in Honolulu.

ESHMONT MEMORIAL AWARD—A secret ballot by 49er players the night before the last game of the season determines the winner of the Len Eshmont Memorial Award—a $1,000 watch. Len, a Fordham graduate, was a member of the first 49er squad in 1946. He coached at the Naval Academy and the University of Virginia before his untimely death in May, 1957.

THE 49ER STORY — 1946-1968

From a modest beginning in 1946, the San Francisco 49ers have grown into one of the most flourishing franchises in professional sports.

A major league football franchise in the City by the Golden Gate had long been the cherished dream of Anthony J. (Tony) Morabito, a native son and 1931 graduate of the University of Santa Clara. Failing to win recognition from the National League, Tony turned to the All-America Conference, which began operations in 1946 with the late Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, as the guiding genius.

Although the AAC went under after four years of intense competition with the NFL, it proved Morabito's point that San Francisco was a major league city. Sports fans of the entire Bay Area took the 49ers to their hearts and attendance grew by the proverbial leaps and bounds.

The club's success was predicated on Tony's oft-repeated slogan of "Go first class or not at all," and his early organization was built around such honored names as Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw, head coach; and Frankie Albert, Norm Standlee, Alyn Beals, Johnny Strzykalski and Len Eshmont—all of whom were already top drawing cards in collegiate and pro football.

The 49ers were the perennial runners-up to the mighty Cleveland Browns throughout the history of the AAC and, masterminded by Shaw on the bench and Albert on the field, became noted nationally for daring, colorful football. The AAC ended its short but exciting life when the Browns defeated the 49ers, 21-7, in the championship game of 1949, San Francisco, Cleveland and Baltimore became members of the NFL.

After 19 years of slam-bang battling in the NFL, the 49ers have yet to win even a divisional championship. They've come close, tying Detroit for seasonal honors in 1957 but dropping the playoff. But in every season except seven—1950-55-56-58-62-63-64—the San Franciscans have been in the thick of the title fight.

49ER STORY (Con't)

Here are the highlights, beginning with the first year in the NFL:

1950—The 49ers fell flat on their faces in their NFL debut, winning only three games. A rival coach described them as "not big enough or tough enough."

1951—In an amazing reversal of form sparked by a great rookie group, the 49ers were in the race to the final day and finished only a half game off the top. Led by Hardy Brown and his famed "shoulder tackle," the club had one of the toughest defensive units in the league. Y. A. Tittle and Billy Wilson began their great careers.

1952—After a blazing start, the 49ers slumped in midseason. It can't be written off as unsuccessful for Hugh (The King) McElhenny came off the University of Washington campus to become "Player of the Year" and the most feared runner in football.

1953—The 49ers had their best NFL showing, 9-3, normally good enough for a championship. But Detroit was 10-2. Two of the San Francisco losses came with Tittle benched because of a severe facial injury. The three defeats were by a total of nine points. Joe (Jet) Perry became one of the few players in pro history to gain more than 1,000 yards in a single season. Gordy Soltau was the league's top scorer for the second straight year.

1954—Early momentum was broken by injuries to key players such as Tittle, McElhenny, and Joe Perry. Perry gained more than 1,000 yards again, the first man ever to achieve this distinction.

1955—With McElhenny hobbled by a foot injury, the 49ers had their second worst season in history under Norman P. Strader who succeeded Shaw as head coach.

1956—In Albert's first year at the helm, the 49ers were bogged in last place at midseason with a 1-6 record. They won four and tied one of their last five games for a brilliant stretch drive.

1957—This undoubtedly was the most emotional and dramatic season in 49er history. Every game was a "Cliffhanger" and the "Alley-Oop" pass from Tittle to rookie R. C Owens became a household byword. Emotions reached a peak when the beloved Tony Morabito collapsed and died of a heart attack at the Chicago Bears game on Oct. 27. Trailing, 17-7, the 49ers fought back for their greatest victory of all time, 21-17. The magnificent Wilson caught a pass from Tittle for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter. Tied with Detroit at 8-4 when the season ended, the 49ers lost the playoff game, 31-27, although they held a 27-7 lead in the third quarter.

1958—An up-and-down season which finished on a high note when Green Bay and Baltimore were defeated in the last two games. The 6-6 record, however, was blackened by the 33-3 and 56-7 lacings at the hands of Los Angeles and Albert resigned at the end of the year.

1959—With Hickey in charge, the 49ers were in contention all the way and John Brodie came into his own at quarterback when he led the team to a 21-20 upset of Cleveland. J. D. Smith, converted from a defensive back, became the second 49er to accumulate more than 1,000 yards rushing.

1960—Hickey saved a seemingly hopeless season when he installed his Shotgun attack and the club captured four of the last five games to finish in a tie for second place. Third-string quarterback Bobby Waters threw the passes that upset Baltimore, 30-22, in the final two minutes.

1961—The success of Hickey's Shotgun amazed the football world, especially the 49-0 victory over Detroit. Quarterback Bill Kilmer, a passing-running rookie from UCLA, was made to order for the new offense. When the Shotgun was stopped, Brodie took over again in the T and had the finest season in 49er q.b. annals. Indicating the evenness of NFL competition, the 49ers were playing for a second-place tie, plus a trip to the Runner-up Bowl at Miami, or a fifth-place position on the last day of the season. The Colts again won by three points, but 1961 must remain as one of the most exciting and interesting years in 49er history.

1962—For the first time since 1956, the 49ers finished the frustrating season with more defeats than victories. In so doing, the honored adage of "it's easier to win at home than on the road," proved false—the 49ers won only one of seven at home, but captured five of seven road contests.

1963—Injuries in multitude to key personnel started the 49ers off to a disappointing 2-12 league season. One of the victories, however, was a smashing 20-14 upset of ultimate World Champion Chicago, the only league defeat suffered by the Bears all season.

1964—Club co-founder Victor P. Morabito died of a heart attack in May. Injury to key personnel prevented the 49ers from gaining enough offensive momentum to forge a winning season, although they proved to be one of the toughest defensive clubs in the league. Outstanding rookie performances by end Dave Parks, quarterback George Mira and linebacker Dave Wilcox also took some of the sting from the 4-10 overall record.

1965—Outstanding offensive performances enabled the 49ers to jump from the bottom to fourth place in the Western Division as the team led the NFL in both scoring and total offense. John Brodie was the most productive passer in the NFL, Dave Parks led the league in receiving and rookie Ken Willard and veteran John David Crow, acquired in an off-season trade, led a strong ground game. The over-all record was 7-6-1 and the season-opening 52-24 beating of the Chicago Bears marked the largest number of points ever scored by the 49ers in NFL play.

1966—After a somewhat slow start, the 49ers got in gear just before midway in the season and became one of only two teams to beat the eventual World Champion Green Bay Packers. After that, they rolled to a respectable 6-6-2 record and were in the battle for second place in the Western Division until the final league game. Guard John Thomas and end Dave Parks were All Pro, and they joined guard Howard Mudd, center Bruce Bosley, fullback Ken Willard and linebacker Dave Wilcox in the Pro Bowl.

1967—An auspicious start (they were 5-1) disintegrated into disappointment for the 49ers as injuries took a heavy toll and a six-game losing streak took them out of the running. Quarterback George Mira came off the bench to lead the squad to two season-ending victories and salvage a 7-7 record. There were bright spots, however, as, with John Brodie in fine form, the 49ers were the only team to beat the power-laden Rams in a league game, guard Howard Mudd and linebacker Dave Wilcox were named to All-Pro teams, and Mudd and center Bruce Bosley played in the Pro Bowl for the second straight time.

1968—Under new coach Dick Nolan the 49ers posted a 7-6-1 record as the season turned on key wins over New York, and Green Bay, 27-20. Brilliant performances by QB John Brodie, receiver Clif McNeil and running back Ken Willard led a prolific offense, while tackle Charlie Krueger, linebacker Dave Wilcox and defensive back Kermit Alexander, sparked a revitalized defense. McNeil and guard Howard Mudd were chosen All-NFL, and joined by Wilcox, Willard and Alexander in the Pro Bowl.
